TERRITORY WAS WON AT HIGH LIFE COST

Roumania Paid Dearly for Bulgarian Acres—Cholera Laid 5000 Low

BUCHAREST, Sept. 27.—Roumania's victorious army in the "war" with Bulgaria is returning and the troops are being sent to their homes. The "war"—literally jumping on a nation when it is down—which resulted in the taking of several hundred square miles of Bulgarian territory and adding them to Roumania, was a bloodless "war" but not a deathless one.

Roumania ran against a foe it had not figured on—cholera and typhoid. An official report issued gives the number of dead from cholera as 857, but returning soldiers and officers declare that it exceeds 5000. Many of the troops are still in quarantine. There is danger of the cholera spreading throughout Roumania. In that event Roumania will pay dearly for the territory taken from Bulgaria when the latter could not help itself.

Recalling the American-Spanish war and its confusion on the American side, serious charges are made against the war department of utter incapacity in dealing with the commissary and sanitary departments of the army sent to Bulgaria. The question is asked if the casualties from disease alone in a war of a week in which not a shot was fired, has been 5000 from cholera alone, many hundreds from typhoid and no small number from dysentery, what would have been the deathroll had Bulgaria been in a position to fight?

It develops that the army of occupation was three days without food after crossing the Danube into Bulgaria. The commissary department broke down completely. The three days' rations the troops carried with them turned out to be spoiled, wormy and unfit for consumption. The hungry soldiers stormed the orchards and ate unripe fruit. Dysentery and other intestinal troubles put a large portion of the army out of business. Not expecting this, and being unprepared, the hospital department broke down completely and was unable to take care even of a small proportion of the sick. This resulted in many unnecessary deaths. According to reports in the Roumanian papers, it is believed that when the truth is known—if it is ever made known—Roumania paid for the territory taken from Bulgaria with not less than 10,000 lives lost on the field of dishonor—that is, incompetency and inefficiency.

As a mark of recognition, 15,000 Jews who served in the "war" may be granted citizenship. There are 300,000 Jews in Roumania. Although they must serve in the army and pay taxes, they are not citizens and have few of the rights of citizens.

BERTH RATES TO SAN DIEGO DROP

The railroad commission has directed the Pullman company to reduce the lower berth rate between Los Angeles and San Diego from $2.00 to $1.50.

The matter was taken up informally by the commission with the company and the lower rate was fixed without contest. The Pullman company has stated its willingness to put in the new rate effective November 1, 1913.

The present rate is $2.00 for a lower berth and $1.50 for an upper berth. Under the commission's ruling the lower berth is reduced to $1.50 and the upper berth to $1.20.

The commission regarded the rates as discriminatory against the cities of Los Angeles and San Diego and all points between the two, and therefore ordered the reduction.

A Land of Opportunity

Humboldt County, the least developed in California, presents splendid opportunities to investors and homeseekers. Men and money are needed for dairying, small fruit growing, truck farming, general farming and apple raising. A country of wonderful resources and ideal climate in which the first railroad is now building. All inquiries promptly answered by the Humboldt Promotion and Development Committee, Eureka, Calif.

AVIATION CUP RACE DRAWS CROWDS

International Air Contest to Come Off Monday—U. S. Flyers All Favorites

RHEIMS, Sept. 27.—The International Aviation Cup Race will be run here on Monday with six nations—the United States, England, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium—competing. The French and United States entries are big favorites today in the betting. Charles Weymann, representing America, has done better than 100 miles an hour over a short course in try-outs. He is admittedly one of the greatest aviators today and in competition is expected to do even better than 100 miles an hour.

The race will be over a 10 kilometer course, 20 laps to the race, making the distance 200 kilometers or about 125 miles. The "track" is rectangular, four pylons representing the corners. Conditions of the race permit the aviators to land as frequently as they wish but any change in airplane is forbidden. The racer making the best time for the twenty laps will be declared the winner. The start will be at intervals, the entrants to draw for places tonight or tomorrow.

Huge crowds are arriving on every train and the hotels already are full. Hundreds of Americans, Englishmen and Germans are here, including sportsmen, actresses, internationally prominent millionaires and high nobility.

Is Your Home Furnace Heated?

If not come in and let us show you the advantages of our furnace.

The Iowa Double Syphon Draft Furnace

Is made right here in Santa Ana.

Why

THIS IS THE MOST ECONOMIC AND SATISFACTORY
HEATING SYSTEM ON THE MARKET.

FIRST—We can save you a large per cent of your fuel bill with our double syphon draft, by consuming a large part of your smoke, soot or gas.

SECOND—We throw the draft on the center of your body of fire, thus radiating the heat at the base and surface of the furnace. We bring the draft from the top of the furnace, not from the base.

THIRD—You can close your direct draft and retain the heat in your furnace as long as your fire lasts.

FOURTH—You can use coal, wood, oil or gas as fuel.

FIFTH—No furnace known to the trade will radiate an equal amount of heat for the amount of fuel consumed.

Call and see us or write and tell us your needs. We want your trade.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

The price of fresh figs continued low yesterday, due partly to the fact that there are many on the market that will not grade up to drying quality. The quotations on dried figs are going to be high, at least for California dried figs. The crop in the district of the large orchards has been a distinctive disappointment and packers are paying heavily for the product, particularly good white figs. Hot weather for a continuous stretch and early adverse conditions have produced many dark tinged white figs.

The prices on poultry have been on the rise and yesterday another jump was credited the various grades. Broilers are particularly difficult to obtain and dealers are paying 24 cents for them. Friers are up to 29 cents and roasters, weighing over three pounds, soft boned, are holding at 30c. Turkeys, ducks and geese are all up a cent.

There has been no change on the grape market and that fruit is plentiful. Apples are plentiful and prices steady. Receipts of this fruit yesterday totaled 1696 boxes.

The price on eggs is very firm and several of the firms on the street are offering as high as 41 cents for the product. This is for strictly white case eggs. The demand for eastern storage eggs is fair. Receipts of the product yesterday were probably the lowest in several months, only 77 cases being reported in.

Butter was steady and sales good. Arrivals totaled 29,837 pounds. There were no reported cheese receipts and offerings were largely of eastern stock.

There were no changes on the vegetable market to speak of. Lettuce is becoming more plentiful again and a drop is looked for in this. Celery is also expected to decline within a few days.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—'CASCARETS'

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

Good Copy Attractive Advertising

A few years ago the big cry in advertising was the "copy." Today everybody is talking of "merchandising."

Advertising knowledge comes slowly and by bits. No advertising man ever sprang up fully equipped for the work, no matter what may have been his previous condition or instruction.

Every campaign planned by us is a selling campaign—a merchandising campaign built on dug-out facts.

But there is an important item that we do not overlook—copy and attractiveness.

First the advertisement must be easy to read—and doubly so in summer time. Your entire "story" told in the headline is always a good plan to adhere to.

Your copy may be the best argument on earth—and still fail to bring results.

Here's what we do: We can arrange your ad in such a way that the reader will have to pause and look—and if your copy is properly prepared, the ad will have done its work in an instant.

You must get your advertising before the greatest number of people, at the smallest cost per capita.

The Register's circulation is guaranteed—absolutely—3391.

This circulation—the service and attention we give your advertising problems has resulted in much "exclusive" advertising in the Register.

Advertising is the editor-in-chief of the commercial world—the interpreter which sets to print the needs of mankind—the sap of the business tree.

THE DEMOCRATS AND THE TRUST PROBLEM

Information coming from authoritative administration sources indicates that the Democratic leaders, including the president, who have been floundering around for several months in a quandary as to what to do on the great trust problem, are at last settling down to agreement upon a policy, and this policy, it appears, is nothing more nor less than a continuance of the line of activity pursued throughout the Taft administration. According to administration information, Attorney General McReynolds believes that the Sherman law is ample to cover all combinations in restraint of trade, and he is in favor, therefore, of leaving it unamended and of continuing prosecutions under the law as it stands. It is understood in administration circles that the Attorney General is convinced that the Sherman Act may be applied in such a way as to bring about a complete and effective dissolution of the wicked trusts. In other words, Mr. McReynolds thinks he has an improvement on the Wickersham scheme of dissolution, which in the tobacco and oil cases proved so entirely satisfactory to the trusts and so unsatisfactory to the public. The information now coming from administration sources is that President Wilson, without expressing an opinion one way or the other as to Mr. McReynolds' new theory, has agreed to give the attorney general time in which to try out his scheme.

If this policy is followed, out it means, of course, that nothing will be done with the trust problem during the Wilson administration. With the utmost speed, and with fortune favoring him at every turn, Mr. McReynolds cannot hope to reach final judgment in the supreme court and see its decree of dissolution effectively operative in any important trust case during this administration. And yet the trust problem is the most menacing and important of all that demand solution by the statesmen of today. It touches every man, woman and child in the country more closely than any other problem. It has its insistent and persistent finger in almost every line that enters into the cost of living. It has been growing in importance for the last twenty years and public recognition of its growing importance has increased as steadily. Clearer evidence of the perplexity of the Democratic leaders from the president down, over the solution of this problem could hardly be given than in this newly reported determination to attempt nothing original or constructive, but merely to follow a course of procedure which experience has already proved fruitless.

A FIGHT TO A FINISH

"We are in this fight to a finish, regardless of results. We have just begun to fight."

This is the message which Colonel Roosevelt sent to the Progressives in the House of Representatives upon the organization of their Congressional campaign committee. This committee was organized to take special charge of the congress campaign next year. Representative Wm. H. Hinebaugh of Illinois was elected chairman; Representative A. R. Ruple of Pennsylvania, secretary; and Representative W. J. Hallings, also of Pennsylvania, treasurer.

The new committee emphasized its organization by immediately announcing its determination to see that a Progressive candidate for congress is nominated in each of the 435 districts in the United States next year. It proposes to make the fight all down the line. In this determination the congressional committee is in hearty accord with the Progressive national committee, which has repeatedly announced precisely the same purpose.

Chairman Hinebaugh went to New York the day after the organization of the committee for consultation with Colonel Roosevelt and brought back to his colleagues the message quoted above.

The new Progressive congressional committee will work upon different lines from the committees of the old parties. Every congressional district will be entitled to representation, so that the members in each state will form an effective local committee. Between the congressional committee and the Progressive national committee the closest relations will be maintained and there will be effective co-operation.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Leaving it all to Wilson is about the easiest road to popularity for Democrats in Congress just now, if the nature of their advice from home be a safe guide. The folks back in Oregon and up in New Hampshire and away down in Texas are for once in their lives forgetting to complain. If they write or wire to "their Congressmen" at all it is to ask for a farm bulletin or a cookbook or seeds. They have "passed the politics up to Woodrow."

When the newspapers were fairly bursting with headlines and blackface type on the Mexican peril, one of the leading Democratic senators from a northern industrial district confided that he had received just three letters on the Mexican question during the summer. Another had heard about it from a constituent who wanted to get a consular job on the border. Comparing notes in the cloakroom the senators discovered that they need not "view Mexico with alarm." They could let Wilson do that.

Before the Huerta unpleasantness there was the tariff tragedy. Wise politicians in Congress, and especially those whose whole political faith was founded on the dire results they believed would follow letting down the high tariff bars, prepared to receive a few hundred letters of protest each morning, and a sheaf of telegrams at lunch. But the lobby inquiry stopped the sugar letters, and the ordinary folk back home evidently forgot to write a line. "Tariff went down like wheat before a six-horse reaper, but there were no loud yells nor sounds of sobbing in the form of increase in the letters in the congressional mail. Except in a few cases which looked suspiciously like the small boy who, fretful as a hornet, tries to cry but can squeeze out the necessary and alibi tears, the people whom the tariff orators pictured as being outrageously sandbagged, robbed, insulted and driven to the poorhouse gate, were apparently blind to their pictured danger.

Some Democrats were suspicious of this public unresponsiveness at first. They wanted to get a lot of notes from home applauding them if none came condemning them. But by and by they came to the conclusion that the folks back home had a method in their trustful silence. Congress figured that the back home folks were holding Wilson and Bryan responsible. All right. Congress was glad to oblige. If the home folks wanted to saddle this responsibility and trustiness on Woodrow, why, their servants on Capitol Hill had no objections.

And in this same spirit many a Democrat who knows he knows very little about the currency question is facing the debate on that subject with a profound and peaceful calm. Wilson is on the job. Bryan is at hand. The people are watching the spotlight characters, and they are too busy to write. Besides there is still a chance that either Athletics or Giants will be beaten out for the pennant in their respective leagues, and the fight between Cleveland and Washington for second place in the American League is a real thriller. Opposition parties are fighting each other with one eye on Wilson. It's really queer, but it's an admitted fact that nobody has yet developed the mood or what they think is a real cause to fight Woodrow's policy.

So up and down the corridors of the capitol and the two big white office buildings that flank Capitol Park runs the password to official and congressional peace: "Put it up to Wilson; the home folks have."

Captions critics are finding fault with the capitol now. Most of them are peeve, at the great oil paintings that adorn the walls of the rotunda of the legislative house. Out of the eight great allegorical paintings which hang there, it is pointed out that five are defective either in technique or in regard to nature or historical fact. Here are some of the mistakes which have long been pointed out by the guides:

The figure of a girl in one has three hands.

The figure of an Indian chief has a foot on which are six toes.

Flags on Columbus's boat are blowing in three different ways.

The signing of the Declaration of Independence is given as July 4, 1776, when as a matter of fact it wasn't signed until August 2, 1776.

So far no official notice has been given of these apparent defects in the great paintings which are one of the big features for Washington visitors. They have all hung in the great rotunda so long everyone is waiting for some one else to start the ball rolling.

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The 1913, 1914 season, as far as can be judged at this early stage, looks promising. The fall openings took place in the hottest weather of the summer, as Christmas magazines are put together in June, but the weather seemed to make no difference to the crowds that jammed every first night. The infant season has been brilliant and already many rare successes have been scored, while the bones of but few actual failures are bleaching along the Great White Way. David Belasco, among the first managers to start the season, scored an even greater hit with his "A Temperamental Journey" than with his "Years of Discretion" last season. "The Family Cupboard" also has been given the stamp of approval. They may be said to be the best dramas of the early season. William Collier scored a comedy hit in "Who's Who," by Richard Harding Davis, and among the comedies, "Potash and Perlmutter," "Nearly Married," and "Her Own Money," are doing good business. "Adele," Christie McDonald in "Sweethearts" and De Wolf Hopper in "Lieber Augustus" are among the best of the musical shows. Old favorites still running from last season are "Within the Law" with Jane Cowl, Laurette Taylor in "Peg O' My Heart," and Julia Sanderson in "The Sunshine Girl."

The tidal wave of red light melodramas that threatened to engulf Broadway and sell the American drama bodily into white slavery has died a born. The brothel play is not within the law in New York, and no more will madams and cadets stalk the boards in Manhattan. The police put the ban on "The Lure" and "The Fight" and the Shuberts and the Henry B. Harris estate, respective producers, withdrew the objectionable productions without a contest, but they did not escape so easily. Magistrate McAdoo issued warrants for Lee Shubert and William Harris, and the matter is now in the hands of the grand jury.

trate McAdoo, he's the guy who put "The Lure," and "The Fight" likewise, "in Dutch."

They varied the program on Broadway the other day by announcing the demolition of two theaters. So many new playhouses have been built within a stone's throw of Longacre Square within the past two years that the announcement of the closing of two came as a novelty. A 15-story hotel is to be erected on the block on the east side of Broadway between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets where the New York and Criterion Theaters now stand.

Laurette Taylor looks as fresh after playing "Peg O' My Heart" for nearly a solid year at the Cort, as she did on the opening night, but a member of the company is on the verge of collapse. On several nights lately the dog, which is a most important character in the piece, has been indisposed and unable to go on. They have a regulation understudy for the dog-actor, and the understudy has done much of the work the last few nights.

U.S. SENATORS ALL HAVE SPECIALTIES

Satirical Cataloguing of Idiosyncrasies of National Solons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Specialization is the order of the age, and members of the United States Senate reflect that tendency. Most of them have their specialties in legislation. A rough compilation gives the following:

Warren, Wyoming: Expert in making two appropriations grow where only one grew before: specialist in army post appropriations.

Norris, Nebraska: Knows everything about coffee and the coffee trust.

James, Kentucky, Bryan and Bryan: Democratic platform.

Bacon, Georgia: Foreign affairs.

Stone, Missouri: Poor Lo; also waiters.

Vardaman, Mississippi: The negro question.

Smoot, Utah: Wool and sugar.

Bristow, Kansas: Sugar and the Dutch Standard in the tariff bill.

Williams, Mississippi: Sarcasm, Shakespeare and diction.

Works, California: Peace.

Pittman, Nevada: Mining and Nevada.

Martine, New Jersey: The "common people."

Chamberlain, Oregon: Alaska and Alaskan railroads.

Ashurst and Fall, of Arizona and New Mexico: Mexico.

Penrose, Pennsylvania: Objections.

Nelson, Minnesota: Poor puns.

La Follette, Wisconsin: Legislation; Progressivism.

Lea, Tennessee: Soft southern accent.

Lodge, Massachusetts: Cigarettes and literature.

Sheppard, Texas: Effulgent eloquence.

The list might be made complete by listing the remaining senators as experts on constitutional law.

SEMI-ANNUAL DINNER

Half Yearly Event Greatly Enjoyed by Ladies' Bible Class Yesterday

The beautiful home of Mrs. Mary, at 331 Chestnut was chosen for the semi-annual dinner given by the class. The large rooms were decorated with roses and asparagus, and at 12:30 o'clock the fifty members and visitors sat down to the bountifully laden tables. The menu of cold meats, hot mashed potatoes, Spanish tomatoes, perfection salad, rolls and coffee, followed by ice cream, peaches and delicious cake, was enjoyed by all.

Pledges were made for the furnishing of the room in the new church building at the corner of Main and Church. NO-BREAKFAST IDEA IS ADVOCATED BY WELL KNOWN LONDON LANCET

The London Lancet attacks the traditional bacon-and-eggs breakfast for those who do not perform hard manual labor, and advocates the going without breakfast plan. The Lancet is simply catching up with a large number of people who have reached that conclusion within the last few years.

It says that after a night's sleep bodily strength, both nervous and muscular, is at its height and that work can be taken up without food.

The breakfastless plan is conceded to be unsuitable for hard manual laborers.

A free Bible lecture at the K. P. Hall, Tustin, Sunday, Sept. 28, at 7:45 p.m., by M. S. Davis of the International Bible Students' Association, on "Why God Has Permitted and Does Permit Evil."

Various answers have been suggested which are neither scriptural nor reasonable. The speaker holds that with an understanding of the Divine Plan as relates to man, the question is easily understood, and that reason with the scriptures (not tradition) will make the matter clear to all. SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING

Christian Endeavorers of First Presbyterian Church Had Pleasant Evening

Last night was the date for the semi-annual meeting of the Christian Endeavorers of the First Presbyterian Church, this being the meeting when the half yearly reports of work done are received by the society. The meeting was held at the church and was preceded by a supper. While waiting for the report to be prepared, the young people gathered in the upper rooms and had an hour of music, old songs in which everybody could join, being sung. It was a pleasant prelude for the social hour spent at the supper table and the business following.

Supper was served in the basement and the edibles were appropriate for a picnic supper, as the kitchen of the church is torn out to make room for the new Sunday school building, so no culinary preparations were possible. Cold meats, salads and similar good things with ice cream and cake were served, about forty young people sitting down to the spread.

While still seated at the table, the reports were heard. They were encouraging reports, considering that they covered the summer season when the work is not as lively as during the other parts of the year. The society feels gratified at the showing made. The old officers served last night at the business meeting as the officers-elect do not take their places until the first Sunday in October when they will be simply installed. Glenn Tidball was in the chair last evening, being the present president.

The evening was altogether an enjoyable one and the young people are looking forward to a good season's work.

AMUSEMENTS

TALKING PICTURES PLEASE AUDIENCE

Read all that the press agent says about them, peruse everything that the magazines and technical journals have explained with reference to them, and then go down to the Grand Opera House and see the "talking pictures." For of a verity, half has not been told.

They call it the kinetophone that Edison invented. That probably means that you both see and hear something, in which case, that gives a weak suggestion of what you see and hear. For you see and hear a whole show, a whole lot of shows, and so varied and versatile that nothing in the moving picture line can be compared with it.

There would be nothing very thrilling in seeing a picture of a big orchestra making the motions that follow the conductor's baton, add to what you see the stirring music of the orchestra and the splendid tones of the singer—it becomes life itself. Without question, it is the most amazing mechanical substitute for something that it seems almost impossible to reproduce.

The opening program includes seven reels—seven different picture plays, and the range is from an impromptu jolly-up by a bunch of rollicking college boys to a complete minstrel show, with everything from end men to the inevitable, and in this case, the numbers were so pleasing that the crowd absolutely wanted to encores.

Several charming playlets are shown, where the actors and actresses go through their several parts and talk just as if they were before the audience in flesh and blood. A complete minstrel show in two parts is given, the end men tell their jokes, the soloists sing the latest songs and the dancers, both fancy and clog, dance until one can hardly believe that he is looking at a motion picture production. Twelve pictures are shown among which the included musical comedy, light opera, farce comedy, fairy plays and melodrama.

Mirror Theater

It is said that you don't want to miss the show at the Mirror this week. The crowds that have witnessed the performances have come out well pleased. The management has gone to extra expense to get these acts direct from Pantages theater circuit and aims to give the patrons real city vaudeville. Cook and Meyers put over a classy comedy, singing and dancing act just full of good comedy, good singing and wooden shoe dancing, such as you don't see every day. Mr. Cook's acrobatic work and funny talk brings forth laughter and loud applause. The Carr Trio, man, woman and boy, direct from Pantages circuit, are in a class by themselves, displaying changes of Parisian gowns direct from Paris. The man and woman do some excellent harmony singing. Their voices blend well together. Miss Carr does a French ice dance which is great. But Master Clifford tops the whole show with his monologue and funny stories. He held the audience in roars of laughter for ten minutes last night. His rag-time singing and dancing won the women and children from the start. Bring the children to see that great boy comedian tonight, and tomorrow night only. Also there will be three reels of the best moving pictures on the market.

Mr. Horatio Cogswell, University of Southern California, College of Music, has resumed his class in voice, and will receive pupils every Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Padgham, 208 East Ninth St., Santa Ana. Italian method. Home 260, Sunset 874W.

All the latest in Milinery will be shown at our opening Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 27th. Crookshank-Beatty Company.

Flashes From Gay Paris

By William Philip Simms

PARIS, Sept. 27.—In the hope of defeating the United States, at the sixth Olympiad to be held in Berlin in 1916, France today put the finishing touch on the greatest athletic organization the world has ever seen. This touch was the definite promise of $100,000 a government subsidy for the purpose of preparing a record team to be sent to the next Olympic games.

The war office will allow the army to be fine-combed for material, and chosen soldiers will be permitted to "do their time" to a large extent, on cinder tracks and in training quarters, all expenses paid. Every school and college must contribute whatever material they have; athletic clubs are forming all over France with the one object in view—to find the men who can leave behind "those wonders from America."

Athletes have suddenly become the national passion. The whole country has been organized into a sort of Sporting Republic inside a political one. Individual associations grouped into departmental ones, departmental ones into national ones, with an all-powerful Olympic Games board over all and watching all.

President Raymond Poincare, Prime Minister Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister Pichon, and other statesmen are backing the agitation in a semi-official way and have given binding promises to see that not only is every encouragement, financial and otherwise, offered during the formation and training period, but that the sum of $40,000 will be contributed by the government in 1916 to take the men to Berlin and quarter them there. Considering the short distance separating Paris from Berlin, this sum is regarded as generous.

France's Olympic Games organization is an adoption of the American one. The various athletic associations are grouped into a national body. Then there is a National Sports committee in which every important sporting club is represented. Lastly there is the French Olympic Games Committee, at the head of which is Count Clary, who is also president of the National Committee. The Olympic Committee is made up of representatives of the federations composing the National Association, the latter furnishing the funds, the former preparing the final training of Olympiad athletes and attending to all Olympiad arrangements insofar as France is concerned.

The College of Athletes at Rheims is the first of a series of training camps to be established at various cities throughout the country. A second will shortly be begun in Paris. There are already about eighty men training at Rheims.

The Rheims college is open to the public, $100 a month paying all expenses, tuition, board and lodging. Army officers pay $50 a month, the government generally footing the bill. All athletes who have won a national championship are given a month's scholarship free during which time they are put through their paces to see what stuff they're made of. If sufficiently promising, they stick, and the national committee arranges for their expenses.

There is talk among the deputies in favor of arranging things so that all soldiers who distinguish themselves in the athletic field may first serve about six months of the first three years, regularly in the army then to be "detached for duty" at Rheims, where for two years and a half all they have to do will be to train. Ex-Minister of War Messimy himself told the correspondent that he, personally, favors the plan. But even if this does not go through, athletic soldiers will be allowed the time to do serious training throughout their compulsory military service, and whatever happens the Olympic Committee will have the pick of the entire army at its disposal.

Special effort is being made to develop the Jim Thorpe type of athlete, that is the all round man. To this purpose a series of field days are being held all over France in which all who enter take part in all contests which include the decathlon events. The winner of the Paris field day was George Andre, a French Olympic athlete, who, since Stockholm, is said to have developed wonderfully. Sports men here declare him now equal to the Indian, Thorpe.

France has asked the question: Is the American a better man physically than the European, or is he always winner because better trained? In an attempt to answer this France intends devoting scores of thousands of dollars, special legislation, all sorts of encouragement and several years' time in the scientific, careful development and training of her available athletes. And at the Berlin Olympiad three years hence, the answer may be read.

WOMEN'S FADS AND FANCIES

By Margaret Mason

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Leading fashions are prone to be misleading when it comes to the younger generation and the American Miss is quite as prone to be misled. Sally School-girl and Susie Sixteen are replicas of their daintily dressed, or rather undressed, Mamas, and their slit skirts often show that as the tree is inclined, so is the limb.

Though the days of the simple book muslin and blue ribbon are long since past, some modified fashions for youthful wearers are still extant. A charmingly dainty little frock of forget-me-not sprigged organdie is in good fashion and good taste. The short baby waist has a scalloped fichu around the V-shaped neck and a scalloped ruffle around the elbow sleeves. The skirt is set onto the short waistline with a scalloped heading and the scalloped ruffle around the bottom is set on the skirt with a similar heading. A banding of the blue ribbon runs through a casing of the organdie, binds the elbow sleeves and the waist from the latter point the long ribbon ends fall from a knotted bow.

A floppy white chip hat wreathed in forget-me-nots and rosebuds, tied under the chin with black velvet strings completes this ingenue costume.

A party frock of pale chiffon, stamped with pink roses is made with a panama overskirt of pink tulle. The panama waist of the figured chiffon is cut away in front over a round necked vest of flesh colored chiffon. A wired bow of narrow black velvet ribbon at the waist, adds a Frenchy touch, and the neck of the chiffon vest is drawn up with bebe black velvet run through beading. A leghorn with a ruffling of blue malines encircling the crown and covering the brim is caught on one side with a la France rose.

A white wash crepe is cut on long straight lines with its low cut out oval neck outlined with a little up-standing de Medici frill or net. The long sleeves are finished with a frill of the same and a prelate sash of coral satin, very wide, breaks up the dead whiteness with a splash of vivid color.

A chic little suit of rose ratine has a jaunty pony jacket whose distinctive feature is a yoke and sleeves cut in one piece. It has a cutaway front and a little turnover collar and turn back cuffs of ecru batiste.

The straight skirt falls from a deep black satin girdle and is worn with an embroidered ecru batiste waist.

Cool and girlish is a dainty white dotted swiss with a square low neck and yoke formed of wide cluny insertions. Bands of the same insertion divide the skirt into three parts and a soft sash of corn color satin girdles the normal waist line. The elbow sleeves are finished with bands of the insertion and a tiny bunch of orange satin apples is caught on the belt.

All of these suits and frocks are ankle length and in exquisite taste for the maid of sixteen and eighteen years.

Instead of painting the lily or gilding the rose comes the announcement that furs are to be dyed with a mad riot of colors this winter. Visions of Emerald green fox, purple mink, and old-blue sealskin assail one, and the thought of being in the grip of a magenta ermine neck-piece takes one by the throat. It's a good thing a cat has nine lives or it never could stand the strain of having to die and dye again before it is fit to warm milady's jeweled fingers as a salmon colored Russian fox muff.

By this weird fashion perhaps even a leopard at last may be made to change his spots. Of course, it is a "furrin" fad originated by Paul Poiret, and to be classy, you will have to accept without asking what fur. Possibly the only humans, however, who will feel at home in these colorful furs will be those in the habit of associating with pink elephants and purple mice.

POLICY GOOD
RULES JUDGE

The Superior Court Holds that
$1,000 Must be Paid
Lena Scott

Mrs. Louise Edgar Wins Contested Divorce Against Robert Edgar

Superior Judge Thomas rendered two judgments yesterday, the first ordered by him since he went on the bench last Monday. In one case he held that an insurance policy, attacked by the company that issued it, is a valid policy, and in the other he granted a divorce in a default case.

The insurance case was that of the Security Life Insurance Co. against Lena Scott of Fullerton. The policy was on the life of the defendant's mother, Mrs. Charles Young, who died a few months after the policy was issued. Soon after the policy was issued, Mrs. Young became ill with typhoid fever. After she recovered from that she was taken ill with appendicitis, which caused her death.

A clause of the policy was that it was not effective unless taken out and delivered during the good health of the insured person. The plaintiff asserted that Mrs. Young was ill from the time she was taken down with typhoid fever until she died. The defense, however, proved that the policy was delivered after Mrs. Young recovered from the fever and while she was well. The plaintiff endeavored to show that the appendicitis came from the fever, but the physician who attended Mrs. Young would not support that theory. He said that appendicitis might have been induced by the fever, but he said there was no proof of that fact.

Judge Thomas ruled in favor of the defendant, sustaining the validity of the policy.

Divorce Decree
An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted by Judge Thomas to Roma A. Witmer against James R. Witmer. G. L. McKeeby was attorney for the plaintiff. The defendant did not appear.

Mrs. Edgar Wins
Judge Schenck of Los Angeles has notified County Clerk Williams that he has decided the contested divorce action of Louise G. Edgar against Robert Edgar, brought upon the ground of non-support. Mrs. Edgar wins. She not only secures a divorce but also is declared to be the separate owner of real estate involved. Edgar's cross-complaint asking for divorce is denied. Mrs. Edgar, who now lives at Ventura, is given charge of a minor son, Howard, and Edgar (charge of a minor son, Carl. Keech & Davis represented Mrs. Edgar and H. C. Head represented Edgar.

Articles Filed
Articles of incorporation were filed today by the Placentia Cannery Co., organized for "buying, selling, canning and preserving fruits." The capital stock is $50,000, of which a small proportion is subscribed, according to the articles. The directors are W. E. Stradley and J. L. Stevenson of Los Angeles, Fred J. Cline, John E. Scott and A. S. Bradford of Placentia.

Aske Guardianship
Roy Andre has applied for letters of guardianship upon the estate of his father, C. Andre, aged 75 years, who is now in a private sanitarium. The estate consists of real estate and stocks. E. E. Keech is attorney for the petitioner.

Change of Name
The Sunset Fruit Exchange, in which are representatives of various Orange County orange growers' associations, has petitioned the superior court to change the name from Sunset Fruit Exchange to Orange County Fruit Exchange. The reason given by the petitioners is that the present name does not signify anything, while the proposed name would mean something, as Orange County has a great reputation as a producer of fruit. When the exchange was first established in 1893 it used the name that it now wishes to resume. The directors are John A. McFadden, president; D. Eymann Huff, secretary; F. W. Knight, D. Hewes, Willard Smith, R. W. Jones, G. N. Atwood and W. M. Smart.

Changes Attorneys
Today notices were given to county clerk substituting attorneys in two cases in which W. H. Thomas, now superior judge, was attorney. In each case Charles H. Stanley, a newcomer here occupying offices vacated by Thomas, is substituted. One case is that of an attorney in the action of Emma Cooper against Edna Hoenshel and the other in the case of Josephine Fletcher against G. W. Moore.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT
GEORGE ANGLE GAVE $1,000 BOND TODAY
George Angle, charged with wife desertion, gave $1,000 bond in Justice Cox's court today, and went free. He is to appear for preliminary examination on Oct. 7.

Held to Answer
This morning Roy Peters, a Syrian holdup man, was held to answer for trial in the superior court. The principal witness against him was K. Takota, a Garden Grove Jap from whom Peters took $8 at the point of a revolver. Charles McKee testified that when Peters was arrested he had two revolvers, three watches and $9.59 in his possession.

DISCUSS HOME
CREDIT PLAN

Attorney Tells People Not to Trust Too Much to Juvenile Court

(By Staff Correspondent.)

ORANGE, Sept. 27.—The Parent-Teacher Association held an important meeting last night at the high school auditorium, an extra large crowd being present. An unusual number of men were in attendance about half of the meeting being masculine. President S. L. Scarritt of the Parent-Teacher Association presided at the meeting.

The optional system of "school credit for home work" was the chief topic of the evening and the plan which it is proposed to introduce into the local schools was universally endorsed by the meeting. Addresses were given by Attorney Steele Finley of Santa Ana and C. C. Smith, principal of the Orange public schools.

Mr. Finley approved of the plan and emphasized the advantages of the plan in bringing the home and the school closer together. Mr. Finley approved of the idea of the teacher taking part in the student athletics, asserting that the interest and confidence of the pupil was in this way gained by the teacher, who was able to exert more of an influence. During his discourse Mr. Finley warned parents against the juvenile courts and detention homes, saying that too much was expected of and trusted to these institutions, which sometimes have a permanent and unfavorable influence on the life of the child.

Mr. Smith's address was explanatory of the plan of allowing credit for home work. He stated that the credit would be allowed for any sort of domestic work, requiring 30 minutes each school day and one hour on Saturday. Parents of the pupils will have supervision of the home work and their approval will be accepted as final by the teachers.

Mr. Smith urged the co-operation of teacher and parent in the plan, which he declared would otherwise be useless to attempt. The system, he said, is optional with the parent, and the home work will be rated on a par with school studies.

Interspersed with the two addresses were musical selections including a trio by Misses Vida Morrison, Nelle Pister and Mae Ainsworth, a solo by Miss Vida Morrison and a solo by Mrs. C. A. Palmer of Villa Park. This feature of the program was enjoyed equally with the speaking.

Mrs. L. B. Gitchell entertained the Royal Neighbors last evening in honor of her mother, Mrs. L. E. Jones, who was celebrating her 55th birthday anniversary. The affair was a surprise given at the Gitchell home on East Palmyra avenue.

The evening was spent gaily in guessing games and other pastimes. Mrs. H. F. Dalrymple and Mrs. Evan Davis tied for one first prize, Mrs. Davis winning in the draw. Mrs. Cora Wilson was the winner of another first prize. Mrs. Jones was presented with a beautiful silver bread tray as a mark of esteem from the guests. Refreshments were served at a late hour, the brick ice cream wearing the Royal Neighbor colors, purple and white.

Those present were: Mesdames L. E. Jones, K. Keiser, E. Reed, H. Wright, John McCarthy, H. B. Slater, Wm. Wilson, W. C. Waechter, H. F. Dalrymple, W. T. Porter, Evan Davis, Henry Meehan, Sarah Hyle, Mary C. Jackson, J. H. Whaley, P. S. Trickey, John Kaiser, S. C. Lucas, N. W. Potter, F. H. Wilson, N. B. Spray, Mary Keiser, S. Bentz, H. Lucy, E. Kirkpatrick, K. Brooks and L. B. Gitchell.

A sacred concert will be given at the Christian church tomorrow evening under direction of Mrs. Margaret Jasper.

An eight-pound girl was born last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hart of Nutwood place.

Tomorrow's service will close the conference year of the First M. E. church and special programs have been arranged for both morning and evening services. Musical numbers will feature the services, the choir being under the direction of Mrs. Van Skike. Dr. Cory will go to Long Beach Tuesday to attend the annual Methodist conference. No change is expected in the local pastorate.

Mrs. Lydia E. Jones of East Palmyra avenue left this morning for San Diego to visit her brother, L. N. Gibson and family.

Miss Flora Palmer has returned to her home on East Chapman avenue after spending two months with relatives and friends in Denver.

Messrs. Wm. Batterman, Meeska, Ed Dierker and H. Heim went to Los Angeles this morning on business connected with the new German church.

Mrs. Herbert Sutton has the honor guest at an informal reception given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. T. H. Elijah and Mrs. George E. Hart at the Elijah home on North Center street. Fancy work and social pastimes filled the afternoon pleasantly, refreshments being served. Those invited were: Mrs. Herbert Sutton, Mrs. V. W. Sutton, Mrs. Walter Sutton, Mrs. W. T. Walton, Mrs. S. A. Salverson of Brea, Mrs. G. L. Jackson, Mrs. F. E. Pister, Mrs. H. S. Huff, Mrs. W. O. Hart, Mrs. Ray Handy, Mrs. Vera Tighe, Miss Amy Clark, Miss Anita Willets, Miss Ina Ainsworth, Mrs. T. H. Elijah and Mrs. G. E. Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Small of Los Angeles came down this morning to visit over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Small on East Palmyra avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Todhunter of North Orange street left this morning for San Diego for a visit with his brother.

Mrs. W. L. Carriker and Mrs. W. R. Pierson went to Pasadena this morning where they will be week-end guests of their cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geiselke, recent arrivals from the East, left this morning for San Diego to visit their nephew.

CHENEY GETS TUNA
OVER THIRTY-EIGHT
POUNDS IN WEIGHT

Jan Joaquin Rancher Sets New Record for County Rod and Reel Club

William Cheney, bean and grain grower of Tomato Springs, has set a new record for the Orange County Rod and Reel Club. Yesterday with a nine-ounce rod and a nine-strand line he captured a tuna weighing thirty-eight and a half pounds.

It was a great day for tuna. Cheney and his foreman, Arthur Hill, of Tomato Springs, and Ed. Larter of Westminster went out in the 9:30 launch from Newport Beach. They ran into a lot of tuna, and it was a busy day for the anglers with light tackle. The three men got six of the big fish. Larter getting three, Hill one and Cheney two. Cheney's second fish, weighed thirty-four and a half pounds. He declares that one that got away was the biggest fish in that part of the ocean.

Victor Walker, of Hill & Walker's sporting goods house, set the first tuna record. A week or two later Dr. Bert Patton raised the record to thirty-two pounds.

For some reason the tuna has lavished affection on the Orange county coast this year. With such fishing as the anglers have had lately, Newport Beach has Avalon off the map for tuna fishing.

FINISH STREET
WITHIN MONTH

Within a month North Broadway from Hickey street to Fifteenth street will be paved and opened to travel. Contractor Max L. Hubermann has completed all grading on that section of street and is now laying concrete, between 10,000 and 12,000 square feet a day. The concrete will all be down within ten days, and surfacing will commence immediately.

After the street is paved to Fifteenth street, Hubermann will commence grading for the pavement to run north as far as Santa Clara avenue.

In the meantime property owners on South Broadway are preparing to circulate petitions for paving that street south to Fairview avenue. It seems to be only a matter of a few months until that street is paved from end to end.

McDannald is Getting Pictures to Illustrate His New Lecture

D. W. McDannald, the county's representative at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, is making a collection of pictures of Orange county's famous athletes to be used in illustrating a lecture on Orange county.

McDannald has a theory that Orange county's climate is especially adapted to the development of strength and agility, and he points to the long list of world famous people who spent their youth here. He proposes to make mention of Fred Kelly, hurdler; Walter Johnson, pitcher; George Horine, high jumper; Tom Morris, sprinter; Fred Mills, marksman; Glenn Martin and Mrs. Seidel, aviators; Cravath and Sam Duncan, baseball players; Tetzlaff, automobile driver.

Today McDannald was inquiring to get a line on pictures of Tom Morris and George Horine. Morris died years ago. Horine, who held a world's record for high jump, has graduated from Stanford University.
